Connection with the girl's disappearance, tonight made the following patch.] There is acute fear that when the silence of the Kaiser is broken tomorrow, when he is expected to have an interview with Chancellor Von Buelow, it will take the form of defiant criticism of those who have opposed themselves to him and to his policies.

With this fear in mind, Germany awaits with breathless interest the conference that the Kaiser is scheduled to hold. An ugly political crisis is feared as the result of the breaking of what the public is pleased to term the "studied silence" of the ruler.

Defiance of the Reichstag, at least as collateral to his resentment of the attacks of individual members, is both expected and feared.

Astounding rumors are flying about Berlin to the effect that Prince Philip Eulenberg, who supposedly escaped heavy punishment by reason of the fact that he was dying, is rapidly recovering, and that he still has sufficient influence left among face Byzantines, who surrounded the throne to make his support of Gen. Lowenfeld as a candidate for Chancellor, some thing to be feared and respected.

Nothing has intensified feeling here more than the reports of Prince Eulenberg's activity, to which the mention of Lowenfeld's name has merely added. The idea of putting a male dancer in charge of the nation is esteemed to be grotesque and ridiculous. (BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.)

PITTBURGH, Nov. 15.—(Exclusive Dispatch.) The women stockholders of the California-Kern Oil Company crowded a meeting at the Monongahela House last night, and unanimously voted to uphold a recent meeting of the directors, at which Vice-President Lafe Johnston of Indianapolis, had been deposed from that position. They also upheld the deposition of Director Daniel E. Mack of Bakersfield.

New directors were elected and the ladies voted solidly to recommend the expenditure of $30,000 in real money at once on their holdings at Bakersfield. It came out that the women had quietly sent a facal agent to California at their own expense to look into things. The matter is expected to make a fearful row, as it is learned tonight Johnston owned a controlling interest in the Kern Oil Company, but that it was decided by other directors to reorganise the concern and Johnston appears to have been voted out of his own company in his absence.

Late tonight Mr. Heney's physicians stated the patient had passed a good day, his consition being favorable, his temperature nearly mermal, and every sign pointing toward his ultimate resign pointing toward his ultimate recovery.

An X-ray photograph was taken from the front in order to more closely locate the position of the builet and should the negative prove good, and confirm the present helief of the surgeons, the operation for its removal will be attempted tomorrow.

Mr. Heney slept quietly the greater part of the evening. During the day the injured man's brother, Benjamin arrived from Arizona, and to him Mr.
Heney spoke at some length describing his sensations at the time of the shooting. He said that he did not even know from what direction the builet that struck him had come, and that his first impulse when he felt the blow was to get hold of something with which to defend himself. Dizziness overcome him, however, and he could not keep his feet though he retained his grip on his senses.

Mr. Heney spoke with difficulty and the effort tired him to such an extent that all who sought his room were denied admission for the rest of the day.

The hospital was besieged with inquiries as to the attorney's condition throughout the day and many prominent people either cailed at the institution or telephoned for information.

Public irritation against the Emperor, as indicated in the newspapers and in conversation, seems to increase. The expectation appears to be that the Emperor, if he recognizes the feeling of the country, will make some sort of a declaration which may tranquillize his subjects.

Since the growing feeling against Emperor William's personal initiative both in internal and external affairs was suddenly released by his now famous "published interview" there have been exhibitions of violence that have astonished even the advanced radicals. "The interview" merely has been the occasion for a passionate expression of the German people's desire that the sovereign's power shall be limited to close constitutional interpretations.

Celebrate the Birthday of the Federation.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS MIGHT REPORT.]

DENVER. Nov. 15.—Nearly all the delegates to the twenty-eighth annual convention of the American Federation of Labor today made an excursion to the mountains near Denver, as guests of local unions. Today is the twenty-eighth anniversary of the founding of the organization, comprising 584.85 members.

Reports of committees will be the order of the next three or four days in the convention, which will resume its sessions tomorrow, and the discussions will-probably develop the future policy of the organization on many important questions.

The members of the committee on the president's report have agreed to a report approving every utterance of Gompers in his annual address, which was read last Monday, and the convention is expected to concur in the report of the committee without discussion. No member of the committee made any objection to Gompers's proposition that union leaders refrain from raising funds to be used in injunction cases, and to go to jail, if need be, after personally defending their rights before the courts.

Federation leaders declare the adoption of this policy will prove more effective in bringing about reform in the injunction laws of the country than anything else that can be done by organized labor.

The "Prosperity Wave"

"Which has started and is being so extensively heralded throughout the land, and which so satisfactorily terminates the recent troublous times, does not come to us as a surprise-far from it. We believed most thoroughly that a nation teeming with real prosperity would very promptly recover from a few "kinks" in its financial system, just as it has done. While others hesitated, we bought heavily: consequently we are in a position today to sell the very highest class and most seasonable merchandise at extremely reasonable prices. Then, too, our stocks are most complete, while those who delayed are finding it difficult to fill their requirements at all."-(Reprinted.)

"Made in California"

We describe today two articles which may be found in our Third Floor Rug and Drapery Section, both of which are strictly home products, one being manufactured in our own workrooms, the other also made in California by California workmen. We hope you will carefully examine both

"Made in California"

More people are learning every day that we are manufacturers of women's garments-suits, separate skirts and coats and rain coats. And our rapidly growing custom is ample assurance that our work is highly satisfactory. A word today about our newly finished fitting rooms:

immediately beyond the Dress Goods Section, as you enter the store from Broadway, we have had constructed a large room, with high ceiling, plenty of windows for ample light and ventilation, soft rugs upon the floor, and acreens which divide it up into a number of commodicus fitting rooms, which insure privacy with good light and air. About the wall are shown exclusive dress patterns in the piece, and throughout the room are models with made-up garments, which give you a comprehensive idea, not only of the scope of our operations, but of the eplendid class of work we are prepared to do.

New and Specially Priced Silks

While these silks are new, and many of them truly exclusive, you will find our prices no higher than you will be asked for silks not so good elsewhere; a statement that you may easily verify;

Wide Black Satins:

38-inch satins at $1.50, $1.75, $2.00, $2.25, $2.50 and a 42-inch stripes at $1.25; 40-inch creps at $2.80; 21-inch Cotele

Odd Cluny Lace Pieces

At Less Than Usual Prices

If we had full sets in all these different pleces-scarfs, dollies and centerpieces -we shouldn't reduce prices a bit, for they are very reasonable now, but sets are broken, so out go what we have left. All sizes from 6 to 72 inches are present in searfs, but not in all patterns; and so on through the list; we cannot match up complete sets in every instance.

Dollies that are now $1 to $3 may be bought for 76c to $2.25; centerpleces that are now $3.50 to $40 may be bought for $2.60 to $30; and scarfs that are new $3.50 to $25 may be bought for $2.60 to $18.75 each— a rare opportunity to get fine Thanksgiving linens under value. has been frequently attacked by selfah interesta. Sometimes only impediments have been put in the way.

In Washington a land-owner under an irrigation system has attacked the whole scheme on the ground that it is radically unconstitutional. The gravmen of the contention is that the undertaking of such work by the Federal government is an invasion of the rights of the States.

This State's rights notion is a good deal of a bugaboo. It has not fared well at the hands of the courts or of the people in the last fifty years. The principle was put to the test when set up in defense of the Rebellion whose purpose was to destroy the Federal Union. Had the contention in that form been held valid it would have meant that the men who set up the American form of government by inadvertence provided means for the destruction of their own work. We believe some State's rights advocates were so extreme as to contend that this means of upsetting the government was not inadvertency, but a deliberate purpose.

Since the failure of the effort to disrupt the Union the contention of any State against the Federal Union has had to be clearly made out to gain any consideration. The doctrine which had been pushed to such a radical degree for so dangerous a purpose met hostility wherever put forward.

The Washington land-owner may or may not have a clear case so far as his individual interests are at stake, and if he has, the courts will protect his rights. That he will get a general judgmant which will stop the great work of reclamation on the ground that it invades the rights of the States is a contingency too remote for the average mind.

THE INTELLECTUAL WEST.

THE INTELLECTUAL WEST.

El Centro is a new town. Measured by months, it is not many of them since it came out of the raw desert a new-born community. No doubt down on the beautiful Hudson River, where the Palisades cast their shadows, the people who know so little about their own country think El Centro is still a very "raw place." Maybe the Tuxedo style of dress has not yet become common down in Imperial county.

very "raw place." Maybe the Tuxedo style of dress has not yet become common down in Imperial county.

But El Centro has organized a University Club and will no doubt be able to find a large number of persons qualified for membership.

There has always been more or less misapprehension about the intellectual quality and culture of the West. The men and women who clung close to Boston Common and to Central Park were at all times prone to forget that Chicago was not built by the aborigines, nor San Francisco by Native Sons. The men and women who spoke of the West as raw, forgot their friends, neighbors, brothers and sisters, cousins and aunts, who had bade them good-by and turned their faces with the sun to seek fortune in the West. Many an oak opening or prairie expanse blossomed into a village and grew to be a city under the fascinating influence of Harvard and Yale men, who had enterprise enough to hang the crane for their new home in a log hut. Dress suits may not have been a large part of their baggage, but they took with them a plentiful supply of Latin and Greek, of higher mathematics and the best literature. Good manners and artistic accomplishments were as prevalent in proportion to the population on the shores of the Great Lakes and on the banks of the Great Rivers as on the smaller ponds and streams of New England and New York, where these empire builders, the winners of the West, came from and brought all there was at home under their hats. At the camp fire, by the mines in the rough mountains, many a man in rusty overalls read his Virgil and even Homer.

Here's a bumper to the University Club of El Centro! We will bet a big apple that there will be many men and women in its ranks who, at feast Lucullian or Bannecidal, will hold their own whether the programme is of "fat things in the lees" and the "flowing bowl," or the "feast of reason and the flow of soul."

CALIFORNIA FARMER'S HAPPY LOT. CALIFORNIA FARMER'S HAPPY LOT.

O The Santiago Orange Growers' Association has wound up its affairs for the crop year, which ended October 31. The fruit was marketed in "pools," two a month. The highest average pool price was received for Valencia oranges and was $4.25 per box. Other "pools" ran from $2.30 per box down to 82 cents. These are net prices for the fruit on the tree. The cost of picking, packing and marketing, including boxes, was a little less than 45 cents a box.

An acre of oranges carries seventy-five trees. If

An acre of oranges carries seventy-five trees. If proper care is taken of a grove there is no trouble in getting each year five boxes from each tree, or 375 boxes from an acre. This is a few boxes more than a standard carload, 362 boxes. At the highest psice, such an acre paid a net profit of almost $1600. The lowest pool averaged $315 net income per acre. The high price is 10 per cent. on $16,000. The lowest is 10 per cent. on $3150. Out of this must come the cost of taking care of the orchard. Taking the the cost of taking care of the orchard. Taking lowest figure and allowing one-third of the income to meet expenses, a very liberal allowance, twice as much as the average, still there will remain a profit to the grower of more than 10 per cent. on $2000 as the value of the property.

In the little county of Ventura the lima bean crop is 800,000 bags. The lowest sale price of the season is 4 cents per pound. This is about $2.50 per sack. If the whole crop were sold at that price, the total revenue would be $2,000,000. These beans grew on a few handbreadths of territory compared with the wheat area of Illinois or the corp area of Farmers who have held their hay until now are selling at $18 a ton. If a farmer had ten acres of good alfalfa meadow and cut a crop each month for six months past, he should have in stock a total for six months pass, he should have in stock a total of about 100 tons. Sold at $18 a ton, he would receive for it, $1800. This is 10 per cent. on $18,000. Ten such acres could be purchased for $5000 or

The going price for hay is high. But in forty years there has seldom been a period of three years during which hay would not at sometime bring about this figure. All a farmer need do is hold his hay till the right selling time.

THE TRUE REFORMER.

The age of hero worship has not passed, but it is passing. In the sense that the populace is ready The world is getting down to the facts of life and is to "go wild" over men who merely attain great prominence, it may be said that a change is visible. learning to judge men not so much on the basis of the fame they have attained as upon the good they have accomplished and the motives which actuate them in the efforts they put forth.

The cry, just now, is "reform." It is something that everybody goes in for. With some it is a fad and with others it provides a channel for notoriety and self-exploitation. But between these two the is a gleam of real hope in the appearance of the man who sees the need of reform and who works for it, although all his inclinations are to keep out of the fight and to live his life in his own way, quietly and apart from the world and all its unn

The people should test every man who comes forth into the liftelight waving the banner of reform. And the sure test that can be made is to ascertain what the man's motives are. Has he an ax of his own to grind? Does he hunger after the fleshpots? Is he vainglorious and fond of applause? If so, he is not the man. Be assured that he is not. If he is not the man. Be assured that he is not. If he be placed in power he will disappoint the people in a crucial hour. He may ascend to the pedestal, but his feet will be seen to be clay.

Reform can be accomplished only through the unselfishness of the reformers. You take a man who loves peace, who likes the serenity of his fireside, and abhors the glitter and glare of the show and the falsetto note in the chorus, but who still stays in the thick of the fight for his neighbors' sake, and he can be trusted. Beware of the Pharisees!

TURN OF THE TIDE.

TURN OF THE TIDE.

We are all business people, except a few rich nobodies, male dudes and Meadames Butterflies. The wage-earner is a business person as well as the wage-payer. Prosperity means comfort and content to us all, and business depression the opposite.

The wise ones among us turned to the business page of The Times Saturday and noticed that the turn in the tide has come; it will rise to a flood.

For a year the reports from the banks all showed a long line of deficits comparing the week with that of a year agons. Yesterday, out of fifty cities, bank clearings showed an increase in every instance with three insignificant exceptions, the cities being of the fourth or fifth class and the deficits very small.

The aggregate clearings reached the enormous sum of $3,579,517,000, an increase over the previous week of almost $1,000,000,000 and over the week last year of $1,200,000,000.

The figures would have been at least an average for the boom years 1906 or 1907.

All the Coast cities stand wall in the list. See or 1907.

All the Coast cities stand well in the list. San Francisco's gain is nearly 26½ per cent., that of Los Angeles over 25 per cent., Seattle 18, Portland 25½, Spokane nearly 10, Salt Lake just short of 66, Tacoma almost 54.

The exchanges passing through the Los Angeles clearinghouse for the week were nearly $2,000,000 a day. This is quite normal for us. Tax-paying swells the volume of money passing.

THE SIZE OF MEN. The Dowager Empress of China, whose death is reported, was a speck of womanhood, less than five feet in stature, and weighing but about a hundred pounds.

Lord Roberts, who won so much glory at the head of English armies, is also a mere mite of manhood in feet and inches and in pounds avoirdupois. This great soldier was once introduced to a man, a compound of Apollo and Hercules, who tried to be "funny." Looking down on the field marshal, the giant remarked, "Yes, I have heard of you, but has scarcely been able to see you." Then he "wished he hadn't." "Little Bobs" looked up and said with a winkle in his eye, "Yes, and I see you, but never heard of you.

Napoleon and Alexander and then swell up with pride and imagine that being small of physique they must have "giant minds." It is true that Milo of Crotona, who killed a fatted calf with a blow of his Crotons, who killed a fatted calf with a blow of his fist, then dressed the veal, barbecued the carcass and ate the whole, is not known as a genius. But on the contrary, George Washington measured six feet two inches, could make the greatest "broad jump" of any man of his day, and could squeeze the ribs of a horse between his knees until the beast roared with pain. Abraham Lincoln was as tall as the Father of His Country, a powerful rail-splitter, and could floor any man in the West at wrestling. Stephen H. Douglas was a small man, and the giant Lincoln was as superior in intellect as in stature. Lincoln was as superior in intellect as in stature. Elihu Root is not remarkable as measured by a tape line, or on the scales. But few have his mental grasp William H. Caesar tore up the blank telegraph form on which he had started to write something.

Taking another sheet, he wrote the words, "Veni, vidi, vici," signed it, and handed it to the operator.

"I was about to make it, 'We have beaten 'em to a frazzle,'" he said, "but that would set everybody to asking what the deuce a frazzle is—and the other is shorter, anyway."

Cautioning the reporters to suppress all mention of the incident, he turned away and strode haughtily into his tent.—[Chicago Tribune.

"Well, she might occasionally manage to time."—[Chicago Record-Herald.

Thou lashless-lidded hag of hags! Thou lashless-lidded hag of hage!
Thou breathless mgnster of decay!
Thou thing of smells and sores and rags!
Thou flat-eyed Satan's whelp—away!
Thou four-fanged alimy sewer rat!
Thou beast God never smiled upon!
Thou friend of vampire and of bat,
Of filth, disease and death—begone!

For thou hast eaten half my heart,
And munched the best that was my soul's,
Destroyed my pilot, then my chart,
And left me helmless 'twixt the poles;
Sucked half the marrow from my bones;
Made broken harp strings of my veins;
Turned all my once glad thoughts to groams;
And now my once warm friend disdains!

Aye! Thou hast dogged me well and long, And blinded men I once did know, And ever killed the little song That from my soul's brook used to flow; And left me hungry, threadbare, cold—To dread the day, to welcome night, To see in youth my soul grow old—A skeleton with Fate to fight!

Thy satellites are everywhere;
The sneer, the snub, the shrug are thine,
The tilted nose, the vacant stare,
The cad, the snob, the human swine;
The shoeless foot, the gloveless hand,
The linen frayed, the drunken breath,
All come in troops at thy command;
And thou canst even smile at Death!

The babies' hungry cries are sweet, Rich music to thy filthy ears! The milkless breasts, within which beat
Their mothers' hearts in seas of tears!
The dreaded step, the raucous curse,
The cruel blow, the stifled cry,
The little white pathetic hearse,
All feed thy greedy ear and eye!

The friend of Genius thou? Great God! The friend of Genius thou? Great God!
In Heaven's name hear that phrase!
What genius sleeps beneath the sod,
Whom thou hast e'er dogged, would praise
One small inch of thy mottled self
Could he come for one instant back?
His soul thou clutched in usurer's pelf
To rend it slowly on thy rack!

Thou enemy of all things clean, Thou friend of all things base and mean, Thou cancer of the human heart. Civilization's bitter foe! The only thing the nations dread; When the Master comes again, I know, And not 'till then—thou wilt be dead! VINCENT.

Ask favors. Collect debts.

A lucky day for persons connected with the following trades or professions and for dealings with them: Army or naval men, engineers, smitha, butchers, tailors, sheriffs, bakers and chemists.

A year of considerable changes awaits women with their birthdate today. They will have many dealings with men. The unmarried will be wooed. Business affairs will demand all the attention that men with this birthdate can give. Let them avoid worry and keep a firm, confident grip on the helm. Those in employment will have a good opportunity.

NINE MONTHS' FOREIGN TRADE

BY WALTER J. BALLARD.

Though our exports in the nine months ended September 1908, as compared with the same period of 1907, fell from $1,351,000,000 to $1,230,000,000, a loss of $101,000,000, we have the "Job's comfort" of knowing that the "other fellow" suffered a much larger drop in his sales to us, our imports having of knowing that the "other fellow" suffered a much larger drop in his sales to us, our imports having fallen from $1,108,000,000 to $798,000,000, a drop of $310,000,000, or more than three times our loss in exports. For instance: We lost $36,000,000 in our sales to Europe, but Europe lost $182,000,000 in its sales to us; with North America (Canada, Mexico, etc...) it was $58,000,000 against us, and $41,000,000 against that world division. South America suffered $26,000,000 through us and we suffered only $6,000,000 through South America.

Recuperating from Fatigue Incident to Harvest Festival—Last of Big Events Comes Tonight.

Elks who were able to sit up and take notice yesterday were scarce. Those who were didn't have much work to do with the great Harvest Festival of last week. As nearly every Elk had a big share in the harvest-of 300,000 dimes, the day was spent by them in retreat and recuperation. For tonight they will all be at the Shrine Auditorium again, when the grand distribution of prises takes place and when it is expected that thousands who are also interested in this contest for Dame Fortune's smiles will be present.

As the work before the distribution. for Dame Portune's smiles will be present.

As the work before the distribution committee is extensive, the start will be made promptly at 8 o'clock. The distribution will be made first by selecting book number and then by selecting the number in the particular book. Unclaimed prizes may be obtained after tonight at Pestival head-quarters at Seventh and Olive streets. Little progress was made yesterday a reaching definite figures as to the net result of the festival, but such progress showed that the estimate of $50,000 is very near the right amount. LOS ANGELES FORGETS REST OF WORLD FOR SIX DAYS.

"Prosperity Week" Begins Unde Most Favorable Auspices—Attract Ive and Educational Programme Arranged—At Tomorrow Night' Concert Mayor Will Make Address

I'Prosperity Week" begins today. Every shop window displays home products; every householder will eat things made or grown in Southern California; everything pertaining to music, art, science now has a local flavor. For the time being we of the Sunny Southland are shut off from the resit of the world and living on the results of our own brains and of the work of our own hands. Los Angeles is, figuratively speaking, an island for six days and many of its inhabitants will make as many pleasant discoveries of its wealth of native material of all sorts as did Robinson Crusce on his lenely bit of land in midocean.

Today's programme is as follows:
All factory and railroad whistles will be blown for ten minutes at 7 a.m. and at noon; distribution of buttons by retail merchants; distribution of pennants at Chamber of Commerce; comic band, operating at will on streets and in business houses from 10 a.m. to 1 p.m.; band in tallyho, in residence section from 10 a.m. to 1 p.m. and in business section from 2:30 p.m. to 4:30 p.m.; address by Lee Gates at Central Pariat 2 p.m.; concert by Santa Monica Bay Italian Band at 2:30 p.m. at Central Park; "Chamber of Commerce Night," and first presentation of Richard Barry's play, "The Searchlight," at the Auditorium; free exhibition of paintings by Southern California gruists at Bianchard Hail, from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m.

DOG TRAY HAPPY NOW.

Sheiter."

Old Dog Tray may hold up his head some more, for there is no dog pound. Of course, the same paraphernalia will be used down at Santa Fe avenue and Ninth streets if the old dog is caught under the new ordinance, but he will hold up his head because he will know there is no "dog-pound."

This is because the Humane Animal League, which has the contract for caring for superfluous, illicit and undesirable dogs under the new ordinance, has named the dog-pound the Animal Shelter.

Dr. W. A. Lamb, poundmaster, says the name has a better relationship to the humane work than "dog-pound." He smiled when it was suggested that, instead of being City Poundmaster, he be called Sheltermaster.

In order to devote all his time to the work of reorganizing the control of dogs and loose animals under the Pasadena system, Dr. Lamb has resigned his membership on the Playground Commission.

"We have been trying to catch this man for a long time," said Gamash, "and cur first good chance came today. Patrolman Toomey and I rushed in and caught him with his outfit spread on the table before him. The instant he aw our uniforms he threw every ticket in the fire. While Toomey took care of the men, I fished for the tickets and wed enough for evidence."

There were several men in the room but no one was a rrested but Jack Wong. At the Police Station he furnished 100 cash bail and was released.

Patronize home industry. There is no reason on earth why furniture made right here should not be as good as any. We know that it is and all we want is an opportunity to show you. Compare prices and quality.

This argument applies more particularly to fumed Mission furniture. Why not? Is this not the home of Missions and Mission furniture? There is no more suitable furniture made anywhere in the world than our quartered oak for living room or dining room. An example of what we can do is herewith shown. Built on heavy generous lines-yet not heavy enough to be clumsy. The ideal set for a living room.

Coyote and Fox While Driving on Road Near Barstow.

Some sportsmen waste a lot of valuable time in hunting wild animals and never get near enough to shoot them while others go peaceably about the ordinary business of life and are literally overrun by wild beasts. This seems to have been the luck of Ed. Stockwell and F.O. Johnson, a photographer of this city, for while on a vecent trip to the Barstow country, they had no difficulty in shooting a coyote and a fox.

The men went from Barstow to Victory will on some mining business and while coming back over the same road scared up four coyotes, five or six foxes and thirty or forty jackrabbits in one bunch. These beasts seemed curious never the appearance of the men and none coyote turned and sat down in the road several hundred feet in front of the men and proceeded to look them over. While he was doing this, Stockwell builed a 12-caliber rifle from the bottom of the wagon and shot the coyote. A little further along he saw a sliver gray fox sticking his head up from his den close to the road and sat down. The beasts were brought to this city and are being mounted by a taxidermist.

Edging a little nearer to the lady, and resting his elbow on the table, he began; and by gradual degrees, and in picturesque and vivid language, related the history of the well-known Luck of the Sarazins. He talked well, he talked impressively, whilst Mrs. Van Booss sat wondering and enthralled; her delicate Vandyke hands loosely locked in her lap, her eyes fastened on the animated historian. She felt herself summoned to the company of Kings and Queens; to jousts, duels and stately ceremonials; to all of these, the "Luck of the Sarazins" unhered her romantic imagination, and the maying recital was most ably seconded by this handsome young man's expressive eyes. He was so well favored, ardent and eloquent, that he might have been one of her own cavaller ancestors. "Well," she said at last, "what you have told me has just been thrilling, and now, I will go and fetch the necklace. I am so giad to have it in my power to restore it to you—and to Spain. Over Two Hundred Pomona Lade Join Military Organization, Which, at Same Time, Brings Them Under Christian Influences—Congratula-

POMONA, Nov. 15.—Altogether about 250 boys have been banded together here under the United Boys' Brigade of America movement. It was started in four local Sunday-schools, through the instrumentality of Capt. Santay-school. The lads in this military organization are at the same time brought under Christian influences. The object of the brigade is expressed in the belief that if the fighting spirit in a boy is suppressed you will get a coward and if it is encouraged you will get a bully, but if it is properly trained you will get a strong, noble man. The local companies organized at the Congregational, Methodist, Baptist and Christian churches are to be augmented by one at the First Presbyterian Church.

There remain only 950 shares unsubscribed of the block it is proposed to market for the establishment of the plant, and the company has already sufficient funds for all practical purposes. It is probable the entire balance will be taken here during the coming week. It is the purpose of the company to retain about 225,000 of the 300,000 shares of preferred stock in the treasury, and if further funds are necessary for more extended development work, they will be secured by the issue of bends. The preferred stock draws 6 per cent. dividends before the common stock, 200,000 shares in the hands of Tunnison and Boyer, can participate.

Two Redondo stockholders will have places on the board of directors, and the auto will be known everywhere as a Redondo product.

The location of the factory will be on the ten-acre tract adjoining the city limits immediately to the north of the right of way of the Los Angeles and Redondo Railway.

TO BOOST REDONDO.

Announcement was made last night of the prosperity meeting next Wednesday evening, at the Pavilion. The object of the meeting is to boost Redondo enterprise. Chairman Burnett is said to have some heart-stimulating enterprises in store for the faithful, and the ladies of the Chamber of Commerce promise an attractive spread to help the enthusiasm of those who attend. The meeting is not intended exclusively for the enembership, but for everybody interested in the community's welfare. President Stewart of the Los Angeles Chamber of Commerce will deliver an address.

One of Biggest Sea Anomones Ever Found on Coast Resembles Lady's Hat—'Twas "Hooked" in Seven Hundred Feet of Water by Avalon

AVALON, Nov. 15.—One of the largest sea anemones ever found upon this Coast was brought in today and placed in the aquarium by Capt. G. Gemilere, a grouper fisherman. In circumference it measures forty-eight inches and is of a beautiful pink color, resembling a lady's hat decorated with a large plume. The specimen was "hooked" in 700 feet of water and was brought to the surface uninjured.

This will be ready for the demonstrators in a few days. The output for next year will be limited to less than 500 machines, but the factory capacity will be gradually increased, and the company hopes to be able to turn out a maximum number of high-grade machines.

LOCAL STOCKHOLDERS.

The stockholders of the company, besides the 40,000 shares held here, are M. C. Tunnison, who invented the auto; Howard L. Boyer, who has been associated with Tunnison in the manufacture of the motor during the past three or four years, and Benton Flood, a retired capitalist of Los Anor improperly treated constination. The great increase of operation. The great increase of op-erations for appendicitis, rectal diseases and womanly displace-ments, indicates the crying need of a mild and sure treatment for constipation, says a well-known hospital matron. Headache, stomach troubles, piles and all the fevers of children can be pre-vented by using this mild for-mula whenever any costiveness exists: Get at any well-stocked drug store 'one ounce aromatic exists: Get at any well-stocked drug store 'one ounce aromatic fluid cascara,' 'one ounce aromatic fluid cascara,' 'one ounce aromatic syrup rhubard.' Mix, and adults take from ½ to 2 teaspoonfuls after each meal, while children will readily take from five drops to a teaspoonful after each meal, according to age. This treatment will correct the bowels and not drug them. The longer it is used the less need of it, except when some heavy meal is consumed, or when one catches cold."

en, he makes among others the chly-interesting and rather remarks dren, he makes among others these highly-interesting and rather remarkable declarations:

The use of slochol has grown into the fabric of society, and if we wish to get rid of it this must be done slowly by educational methods, by careful moral and medical supervision. It would lead to social and racial decadence if alcohol were immediately and entirely removed from social lifa. This is, of course, only an opinion which I have not space or time now to fortify. But I must be allowed to speak with some authority, for I have studied many thousands of cases of alcoholism in all its forms in the last twenty-five years. Admitting that alcohol should be eventually not used at all and that now it should be used only under certain conditions, we should begin the work of reducing the use of alcohol with the young. Alcoholism in its various forms is rarely acquired after the age of thirty, and perhaps in time boards of health or parents and guardians will be able to forbid the sale or use of alcohol to the young. A crusade in this direction, with the motto, "No alcohol to the young," would be rational, because based on actual facts and experience. The crusaders would, however, have to provise our youths with some better substitute than the stomach-killing seds fountain. The prevalent idea that beer does less harm and is less likely to cause alcoholic habits than other forms of alcoholic in our city hospitals start as beer drinkers. On the other hand, wine is very rarely a cause; perhaps largely because we are not wine-dringers anyway.

Oyster Bay.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

NEW YORK, Nov. 18.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Wainscott, L. I., has hopes of succeeding Oyster Bay as the summer capital of the United States. It is at Wainscott that Prof. Horace D. Taft has his summer home and where Charles P. Taft spent his vacation last summer. It used to be the practice of the Taft brothers to go to Murray Bay, Can., for their outing, but as it is out of the question for the Fresident of the United States to leave the country, Mr. Taft necessarily will have to select another vacation place next year. If, as has been his custom, he makes his summer home with his brothers, he is likely to go to Wainscott, for both Horace D. Taft and Charles P. Taft are expected there maxt summer.

Wainscott is pretty well out toward the eastern end of Long Island, being midway betwen Bridgehampton and East Hampton and ninety-seven miles from New York. The Taft cottage is one of thirty near the side of Georgica. Lake. There is an excellent golf coursewhich should appeal to the President-slect.

As nearly as can be estimated it cost the taxpayers of the State about 2000 congressman Bartlett 2681. But one Republican, a university regent, was for the Hearst ticket.

Boost Home Products

We believe in home products. Lemons are one of the big home products of Southern California. We believe in boosting home products, but we draw the line when it comes to handing "lemons" to our customers. We've been doing business in Los Angeles for the past ten years and "still no lemona."

the time of Ananias and Saphira, which is the first record we have of any acute wandering from the wandering from the are liars," and Rosevelt has said the same thing in another way. Some men lie because they can't help it; other because they think it is necessary to lie in business. I do not believe that lying is esential to success in any kind of business. At Christopher's there is no need of it. The truth is good enough at Christopher's without distorting it.
